

Adair McConnell graduated from Bridgewater High School, attended Madison College, received a BA in English from the University of Richmond, an MA in French from George Washington University, and a Russian Teacher's Certificate from the University of Toronto, later teaching French and Russian for thirty years in Fairfax County.

Throughout Adair's life music has been an essential component. He has served as minister of music in several churches, plays organ, piano, harpsichord, and recorder, has sung in and conducted numerous choirs, and formed and conducted the Reston Chamber Orchestra. One of his special interests, early music, resulted in a job as a lecturer-demonstrator of ancient instruments at the Smithsonian. He also wrote computer training manuals for the Department of Defense and was a computer instructor and online publications coordinator at the national headquarters of AARP. Currently he is minister of music at St. Stephen's United Church of Christ in Harrisonburg and recently completed 10 years of service on the board of First Night Harrisonburg.
